Public Comment –

Janet Drew – Citizen of York

A consortium of people sent a letter to Commissioner Liberty concerning incarceration issues. Some of the high points include issues in trying to resolve overcrowding and numbers of arrests. This group is looking for more diversion treatment programs for the ARPA monies to be spent on.

Larry Dansinger – Resident of Bangor

Participant addressed recent media on overcrowding and understaffing in the jail, in which his group feels the best solutions to these problems is to reduce the number of people in the jail.

Participant had recommendations on recruitment of correctional officers, and states challenges of finding officers is because of its lousy conditions and pay.

Commissioners Statements –

Commissioners responded to public comments reporting we negotiate with the union and have been very reasonable in trying to make the wages competitive. Although comments may be well intentioned efforts to point out concerns with the jail, we feel our staff does a tremendous job in very challenging circumstances.

One challenge that we can work on is to continue to improve the culture. We don't have control over who gets sent to jail, who's arrested, and who can't make bail. However, it is important to strive to improve on keeping it a correctional atmosphere.
